(4) The Region

◆ Tsu city is the prefectural capital of Mie prefecture with a population of approx. 280,000. It is comfortable to live in with a mild climate throughout the year and convenient to access other cities: 1.5 hours to Osaka; 2 hours to Kyoto, and 3 hours to Tokyo.

◆ Mie prefecture is known for its rich history and culture. The region has been referred to in many literature works, including Manyoshu, a poetry anthology compiled as early as the 8th century. Also, Shiosai, a novel written by Yukio Mishima, is set in Kamijima Island of Mie, Matsuo Basho, the greatest haiku poet, was born in Iga in Mie, and Riichi Yokomitsu, known as the “God of Literature,” spent his junior high school days in Iga.

◆ Mie is known for its rich historical sites and resort areas. Historical architectures such as the Ise Grand Shrine, traditional towns, and ancient streets have been well preserved. Kumano-kodo (the ancient pilgrimage routes of Kumano) was registered as a World Heritage Site in July, 2004.

◆ The Suzuka Circuit is referred to as the “Holy place of Japanese motorsports” and is the site of the Formula 1 Japanese Grand Prix. This event attracts fans from all over the world.

◆ Center for International Education and Research (CIER) of Mie University plays a central role for the international relations of the university and is engaged in international activities, events and projects with the intention of the globalization of the university education and its region.
